Bob Stewart, one of a band of piratical outlaws who have buried inland a large amount of plunder, decides to begin life anew as an honest man. He deserts his band and for three days travels through marsh and mire. He contracts fever and is picked up by Pete Nelson, a native of the territory. In his delirium he unconsciously tells Pete of the buried treasure. Pete gets the treasure, and his conscience worries him, so he suggests that he and Bob go in partnership in the cotton business. They make big money, and on his death bed Pete confesses to Bob where he got all the money to start.
Meanwhile the outlaws return for their treasure and find it gone. They at once blame Bob and search for him. When he is finally located they break into his fine home and carry him off to the place where the treasure was buried, where they are going to bury him alive, but the timely ingenuity of his wife saves him.

FARMERS' DAY ENTERTAINMENT

Three Bands and Many Free Entertainments will be Provided for our Guests from the County Next Saturday. Big Apple Prize.

That the Adams County people who come in on Saturday for the big Farmers' Day celebration shall have plenty of free entertainment was the sentiment expressed at the meeting of the general committee on Monday afternoon when a report of the solicitor was heard.

The special free attraction of the day will be Prof. Bristol's pony and horse show which will give performances on the Square morning and afternoon. The show has seventeen ponies, a "human horse" and a trick mule and is declared to be a specially fine attraction.

Three bands are to be engaged for the day, one to play in the morning and two in the afternoon. They will be stationed at different places about town so that every portion will have its share of music during the day.

Prizes have been offered for the most fantastic country rider and for the best team so that some amusement will be afforded on the streets by the visitors themselves but the committee has decided to go further than this and an automobile parade will be held during the afternoon. Charles S. Butt and George E. Hartman are making all arrangements for this. A prize of $10 will be given for the most handsomely decorated car and a prize of $5 for the most fantastically decorated car. All entrants should report to Mr. Butt as soon as possible.

Another parade will be held about one o'clock in the afternoon when the college boys, carrying their pennants and banners, will parade through the streets of town headed by their band. They will march out to Nixon Field where the annual foot ball game will be played with Muhlenberg and should the local eleven be victorious, another parade may be expected after the game.

Some of the business places are preparing to give away souvenirs to the visitors and many others will offer special reductions, some selling certain articles under cost. It is to be a real Farmers' Day with everything arranged for the pleasure and comfort of the county people.

The Board of Trade has offered the most attractive prize of the list for apples. They will give a first prize of $15.00 and a second prize of $10.00 for the best exhibit of three barrels of apples, any three varieties or all of one variety, as the exhibitor may wish. The apples will be displayed on the concrete pavements of the four corners of Centre Square unless the day should be cloudy in which event they will be placed in the corridor of the Court House.

The board of judges is to be larger than last year when two committees of three each had all the work to do. This year there will be a number of committees so that the work may be divided and may be done more quickly and effectively. The names of the judges will not be made known until they start their work on Saturday morning.

The Reaser and Gettysburg furniture plants will both give half holidays Saturday afternoon.

KILLED IN FALL FROM WINDOW

Adams County Farmer, while Delirious, Jumps from window of York Hospital and Dies from Shock a Short Time afterward.

During a period of delirium Eli Pitzer, an aged retired farmer, living between Littlestown and Harney, jumped out of the window of his private room on the first floor at the York hospital, Saturday evening, and died soon after being found. His death is attributed to shock from the accident. He jumped only about eight feet.

Pitzer was taken to the hospital a couple of days ago for an operation by a York physician, and was believed to be getting along all right after the operation, but on Saturday he was delirious.

Shortly after six o'clock that evening one of the hospital residents went to Pitzer's room to give him some attention, when it was discovered that the window was up and Pitzer missing. It is not known how long a time had elapsed, but a search about the ground revealed Mr. Pitzer lying beneath his window on the south side of the new building, where he had occupied a private room. The patient was carried back to bed, and expired at once.

It is said he became very anxious to go home and remarked while in a semi-conscious condition during the day that he would go home in the evening.

It is intimated that an investigation will be made to determine whether there had been any negligence on the part of the hospital people. It is also said that the doctor, knowing that Pitzer was delirious, had given orders that he be watched and that restraint be put upon him, but it is said, these instructions had not been carried out.

Pitzer's remains were shipped to Littlestown Monday for interment.

MANY ERECTING NEW BUILDINGS

Residences and Garages being Erected in Many Different Portions of Town. Carpenters and Mechanics are all Busy.

Gettysburg is experiencing a building boom this fall, in every part of town one or more new buildings, principally residences, being hurried along toward completion before cold weather comes.

The fiftieth anniversary celebration put a damper on building operations for awhile as laborers and carpenters were difficult to secure for some time before and after the big event. Much progress has been made since then, however, and a person who is interested may walk to any part of town and see residences in various stages of completion.

Rev. Charles F. Sanders is erecting a brick dwelling on Broadway west of Mummaburg street. On Springs avenue the new College Lutheran Parsonage and Rev. A. B. Wentz's dwelling are rapidly nearing completion. On West Middle street Mervin Shealer is building a dwelling. C. W. Sheads is adding a new garage to his property on East Middle street. Harry Geiselman is putting up a double house on East Middle street; H. J. Weikert, two dwelling houses and David Batterman a machine shop on York street.

On Hanover street Mrs. Anna Ridinger and Howard Ridinger are having built a double dwelling house; John Walter's new skating rink is about completed and a heating plant is soon to be installed. William Henry is improving his new property with a garage and Martin Winter has added a new barn to one of his properties, on this street.

South street which heretofore has had no residences boasts of a dwelling house, in course of construction, owned by Frank Tawney and two houses owned by Jesse Snyder. The cellar has been excavated and the foundation is now being laid for the keeper's house at the Public Playground, in the rear of Baltimore street.

In addition these operations Martin Winter is having a new barn built along the Harrisburg road, and there are several other properties in course of construction in other parts of town.

MRS. GEORGE W. CLABAUGH

Mrs. Clabaugh Died on Sunday at Spring Lake, N. J.

Mrs. George W. Clabaugh died Sunday at the summer home of her son-in-law, Dr. Addinell Hewson, at Spring Lake, N. J., after an extended illness of bronchial pneumonia and heart disease. Mrs. Clabaugh had her summer home at Antrim near Taneytown.

Mrs. Clabaugh was a daughter of the late Henry Kemp, who was a business man in Baltimore many years ago. She was 83 years old and had married twice. Her second husband died several years ago.

Chief Justice Clabaugh of the Supreme Bench of the District of Columbia is a son, and three other children—G. W. Clabaugh, resident vice-president of the U. G. I., Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. Francis X. Ward, and Mrs. Addinell Hewson, of Philadelphia.

HOUSE BURNS

Dwelling House Owned by Joseph Sell Destroyed at Night.

The two-story frame house owned by Joseph W. Sell, and tenanted by William Fridinger and family, in Pennville, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night, about 12 o'clock.

The fire originated in the cellarway, flames passing up through the walls to the garret. Before the arrival of the firemen from Hanover the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building and it soon fell a prey to the flames. The firemen, however, did good work in protecting the adjacent buildings by the use of chemicals.

FR. STOCK OFFICIATES

Young Gettysburg Priest Marries Famous Athlete at Carlisle.

Father Mark Stock, of Carlisle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Stock, of Baltimore street, officiated this morning at the wedding of the world's greatest athlete, James Thorpe, the hero of many gridiron, diamond, track and field contest, who married Miss Margaret Ida Miller, a Cherokee Indian maiden from Oklahoma, Thorpe's native State. Thorpe himself is a Sac-Fox, and was born near Prague, Okla. The conclusion of the world's series Saturday enabled Thorpe to get to Carlisle Sunday and advance the date of his wedding one day. It was set for Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, although first arrangements had been made for Wednesday morning.

The ceremony was held in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Carlisle, of which both the bride and bridegroom are members, and the officiating priest was Father Mark Stock, a warm friend of the groom. St. Patrick's is one of the most beautiful small churches in Pennsylvania. It was handsomely adorned with appropriate floral decorations.

The bridegroom was attended by as fine a coterie of young Indian men as could be found in America. His best man was Captain Gus Welch, of this year's Indian football eleven. The ushers appeared in military uniform of the Carlisle School, and were Edward Thorpe, a brother; Peter Calac, William Hodge, Joseph Guyon, August Looks-around, John Gokee, Philip Welmas, Charles Pratt and Edward Morrin.

The bride was given away by M. Friedman, superintendent of the Carlisle School. Miss Miller was attired in white and wore a veil surmounted by a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. A wedding breakfast was served from St. Catherine's Hall, adjoining the church, after the ceremony, and in the afternoon a reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe on the campus of the Indian School.

The couple will leave Carlisle late today for New York city, where on Thursday they will join the Giants, who are about to tour the world.

MANY DIED IN FIRE ON THE VOLTURNO

Wireless From Rescue Ship Gives Details of Disaster.

LIFEBOATS WERE SMASHED

Flames Which Started From Explosion In Forward Hold Leaped Eighty Feet Into the Air.

On Board the North German Lloyd Steamship Grosse Kurfuerst at Sea, by Wireless to Cape Race, Oct. 14.—With 105 survivors on board from the steamship Voltorno, burned to the water's edge during a gale in the mid-Atlantic and abandoned on Friday last, the Grosse Kurfuerst is approaching New York.

The passengers and crew of the Grosse Kurfuerst witnessed some thrilling scenes when their vessel, called by distress signals from the Voltorno, arrived in her vicinity.

They found the Voltorno burning fiercely and her crew and passengers helpless in the heavy seas. It was learned by wireless messages from the flaming vessel that the fire had been started by an explosion in the forward hold at 7 o'clock Thursday morning, ship's time.

On the arrival of the Grosse Kurfuerst the flames from the hold of the Voltorno were leaping eighty feet into the air through the hatchway. It was learned that fifty or more of the Voltorno's crew and steerage passengers had been killed by the explosion and the fire.

Six boats were lowered immediately afterward from the Voltorno's davits. Three of them, still empty, were smashed to pieces against the vessel's side. One boat, with forty passengers on board, captured while being launched and all were lost. The two others, with from sixty to eighty passengers on board, got away, but apparently were lost in the mountainous seas.

Altogether twelve big liners were brought by the wireless distress signals within half of the Voltorno.

The Cunard liner Carmania was the first of these. She reached the scene at about 12 o'clock noon. Then followed the Seydlitz, the Grosse Kurfuerst, the Kronland, the New York, the Devonian, La Touraine, the Narragansett, the Minneapolis, the Asian, the Rappahannock and the Czar.

The sea was running too high to allow the taking off of the Voltorno's passengers when the rescuing vessels came on the scene.

During the daytime the flames from the hold of the Voltorno were kept more or less under control, but about 9 o'clock on Thursday night the fire reached the coal bunkers, and it was found necessary to close the bulkheads. The pumps thereupon were unable to work at full pressure and the flames broke out through the entire forward part of the vessel.

At twenty minutes to 10 o'clock on Thursday night another explosion occurred on the Voltorno and caused a panic among her despairing passengers and crew.

The Grosse Kurfuerst launched three boats and rescued thirty-two persons, who had been washed into the sea. One of the rescuing lifeboats was out for six hours and was nearly lost.

All those remaining on board the Voltorno crowded together at the after end of the vessel and were taken off safely after daybreak on Friday.

Second Officer E. Lloyd, of the Voltorno, was one of the heroes of the disaster. He fell from a height of twenty feet while repairing the wireless apparatus on board his vessel, but continued to fight the fire all day, and at 7 o'clock in the evening made a perilous trip to the Grosse Kurfuerst in a small boat with three others from the Voltorno. The little craft was sinking when she was picked up by one of the lifeboats of the Grosse Kurfuerst. The total number of those saved is believed to be 123.

The arrival of the tank ships Narragansett and New York in the vicinity of the burning vessel was one of the most fortunate things connected with the rescue, for through those ships sufficient oil was obtainable to soothe the seas and to make the work of rescue possible.

START WORK

Will Take Products of Mines to Smelter at Charmain.

This morning work was commenced at the New London mine, which formerly belonged to the Langanore Copper Co. This was determined on Monday by the directors of the United Mining and Milling Co., which recently took over the properties of the Langanore Copper Co. and the Eagle Metallic Mining Co., at Charmain, Pa.

The ore from the New London mine will be concentrated, as has been done in the past, and the concentrate shipped to the smelter at Charmain.

The Dolly Hyde mine will probably be opened up in a very short time, Manager Dunshee stating he expected to put a force of men at work upon opening the mine within a week. He stated that ore from this mine will also go to the Charmain smelter, which was acquired, when the United Company took over the plant of the Eagle Metallic Mining Company.

The mine at New London contains an excellent shaft, some underground work, and is in good shape. For some time the mine has not been worked, but all water which is most likely to collect in mines has been kept pumped out, the company retaining one man to look after this.

The Dolly Hyde mine is an old mine, and it is stated the ore from it is particularly rich. The directors are anxious to reopen this mine.

SULZER VERDICT MAY BE DELAYED

Attorneys Today Argue as to Exclusion of Evidence.

DECIDED IN SECRET SESSION

The Testimony in Question Reviewed Acts of Governor Not Mentioned in Impeachment Articles.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Instead of proceeding toward a verdict the impeachment court unexpectedly halted to allow the lawyers to argue today a question of grave significance to both sides.

The question: How shall the court consider in pondering the guilt or innocence of Governor Sulzer the testimony to which Henry Morgenthau, ambassador to Turkey; Duncan W. Peck, superintendent of public works, and Allan A. Ryan, Thomas F. Ryan's son, gave for the prosecution? This testimony reviewed acts of the governor not mentioned in the impeachment articles.

The conversations which Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Ryan had with Mr. Sulzer took place after he was impeached. Mr. Morgenthau testified that the governor asked him to "be easy on me" and to treat the ambassador's $1000 contribution as a "personal matter between you and me."

Duncan W. Peck swore that the governor advised him to perjure himself before the Frawley committee as to Mr. Peck's $500 contribution to "do as I shall—deny it." And through Allan Ryan, the governor's futile attempt to have William Barnes and Charles F. Murphy stop the trial was revealed.

In the opinion of many persons, the disclosures of the three witnesses hit the Sulzer defense the hardest blows. That it would count heavily in the verdict was obvious. As members of the court approached that verdict it was borne in upon them that its place in the impeachment articles had not been fixed. The eight articles must be voted upon one by one. Under what head should the Ryan-Morgenthau-Peck testimony come?

This was the problem which the court confronted. Judge Miller had on the assembling of the court suggested that further argument be heard on this evidence.

The court immediately went into secret session, and for nearly an hour and a half debated whether or not the lawyers should be invited to argue in relation to the evidence in question.

When the court reconvened in the open the announcement was made that it was decided to hear counsel further on the acts as testified to, not only by Morgenthau and Peck, but also by Allan A. Ryan.

$2,000,000 TO CHARITY

Estate of Adolphus Busch Is Estimated at $75,000,000.

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—The will of Adolphus Busch, who died in Germany on Friday, probably will not be made public until after the funeral, which is expected to take place here on Oct. 25.

A lawyer identified with the Busch interests said that five years ago Mr. Busch drew a will naming his son, August A. Busch, and his son-in-law, Edward A. Faust, as executors of the estate and lodging control of his brewery in August A. Busch. Both August A. Busch and Mr. Faust are vice presidents of the brewing company.

It is estimated that the will makes bequests for charitable, educational and public purposes aggregating $2,000,000.

This attorney estimated the estate to be disposed of in the will at $75,000,000.

EPISCOPAL BISHOPS VOTE FOR SEGRECY
Decide to Withhold Meetings From the Public.

New York, Oct. 14.—After a long debate the house of bishops decided on a narrow majority not to open its sessions to the public. The vote against the proposition was 52 to 49.
 During the 129 years that the house of bishops has played its part in the government of the church its sessions have been secret. The house of deputies, the other governing body of the church, does all its work at open meetings.
 A sweeping denunciation of the present system of divorce reached the house of deputies in a resolution introduced by Rev. C. F. J. Wrigley, of the diocese of Long Island.
 The resolution asked the convention to express its sympathy with the effort of the international committee on marriage and divorce, which is trying to have the constitution of the United States amended to enable congress to enact uniform marriage and divorce laws.
 In this resolution Dr. Wrigley declared:
 "The condition of these laws at present is detrimental to all family life and morals; has encouraged fraud upon our courts, sham proceedings and various evasions of the law which would otherwise be impossible, so that unscrupulous lawyers organized systematic and persistent attacks for financial gain upon the domestic life of the whole country, whereby adultery is legalized, innocent children are made orphans, and defenseless innocent spouses are irreparably injured."

 The car was driven by Benjamin Canuso. Canuso was held under $1000 bail for a further investigation.

HOBSON CLASHES WITH UNDERWOOD
Accuses Him of Being "Tool of Wall Street."
LIVELY TILT IN THE HOUSE

Aspirants For Alabama Senatorship Engage In Wordy Battle Over Past Records.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Representative Richmond Pearson Hobson launched a hot attack against the senatorial campaign of the Democratic house leader, Representative Underwood, in the house, when he charged that his support of Underwood's presidential candidacy at the Baltimore convention was obtained under "false pretenses."

Hobson, himself a candidate in the Alabama contest, referred to printed reports of a recent speech in which he charged that Underwood was "the tool of Wall street and the liquor interests."

He read from the senate investigation of campaign contributions the testimony of Senator Bankhead containing the record of a contribution of $35,000 from Thomas F. Ryan and Bankhead's statement that Underwood had not known who financed his campaign.

"Had I known!" shouted Hobson. "that Thomas Fortune Ryan, the man whom Mr. Bryan rebuked and named before the Baltimore convention and accused of being the tool of Wall street, had financed the major portion of the campaign of Oscar W. Underwood, I not only would not have supported him, but I would have fought him, and, what is more, he never would have been the choice of the people of Alabama."

"The support of the people of Alabama for Mr. Underwood for president was secured under false pretenses, and I here declare that their support of him for the United States senate shall not be obtained under similar false pretenses."

Underwood, on his feet at once, was loudly cheered by Democrats and Republicans. The majority leader first referred to Hobson's published speech and said he had been waiting to answer it "when he could look Mr. Hobson in the face."

"I would like the gentleman," Underwood continued, turning toward Hobson, "to say here what he said in his Alabama speech, and whether he charged me with being a tool of Wall street and the liquor interests!"

"I used the double word," replied Hobson. "I read the testimony I have just read here from the campaign contribution hearings, and I assumed that what Senator Bankhead said was true—that Mr. Underwood did not know his campaign was being financed by Wall street. I asked the people of Alabama why, when charges were publicly made, that his campaign was being financed by Wall street, my friend did not find it out."

Underwood demanded to hear anything else in his public life upon which to base such a statement and asked Hobson to state it in the presence of the public.

Hobson referred to the conference on the tariff bill which struck out the Pomerene amendment requiring the full revenue tax on brandies used to fortify wines. He charged that in agreeing to that Underwood had consented to let more than $7,000,000 rest in the pockets of the liquor interests.

After explaining briefly the history of that amendment, Underwood turned to answer Hobson's general charge.
 "I was told," continued Underwood, "that Mr. Ryan had made a contribution to my campaign fund, that he had done so without asking any question whatever as to my policies, saying that he was a southern man and wanted to see a southern man elected president."

"Does the gentleman charge that Theodore Roosevelt is a tool of the interests because George W. Perkins contributed to his campaign fund? Does he charge the present president of the United States with being a tool of the interests because Mr. McCormick subscribed to his campaign or because Thomas Fortune Ryan subscribed $10,000 to his campaign when he was a candidate for governor of New Jersey?"

"There was not a single candidate for president in any party whose campaign was not financed in part at least by wealthy men of New York, just as intimately connected with Wall street as Mr. Ryan."

The row veered over to the presidential convention difference between Underwood and Bryan and an old editorial in which Bryan referred to Underwood as a "Wall street candidate."
 "Every one knows that at one time there was a difference between Mr. Bryan and myself," said Underwood. "We buried that difference for the benefit of the Democratic party. We have forgotten it. I challenge the gentleman from Alabama to get any statement from Mr. Bryan that I am a tool of any one."

When Underwood finished the house cheered him loudly and the altercation seemed to be ended.

Ends Life In Aeroplanes.
 Oran, Algeria, Oct. 14.—One of the most dramatic cases of suicide on record came to light here at the inquest into the death of Justin Soubeilland, a military aviator. The evidence showed that Soubeilland, after ascending 2000 feet in his monoplane, killed himself. The machine, with no one to control it, fell to earth. Soubeilland had shot himself.
